

12-year-old wins women's division

Daisy Martinez, a 12-year-old who is improving weekly, won the SFI 5K For Family on Saturday, Aug. 2, morning in Fort Worth. She ran a 21:56.9 to win. Daisy (shown at left) has been competing in several road races and usually races at the Trinity 5000 on Thursday evenings. She has clipped about 3 minutes off her 5K time from last year. A little more than a year ago, Molly Tucker of Southlake got runners' attention when she began winning overall women's titles at age 10, and she eventually dipped into the 18-minute range. Molly has just returned from the TAAF Games of Texas state meet in San Antonio, and set a 1,600-meter record for 12-under. Read about her and other DFW competitors at the event on the Side Trips page.

Meanwhile, Ricky Cox who already conducts the weekly summer Trinity 5000 series has added another three-race night (7:30 p.m. start) series that began August 12 at River Legacy Park in Arlington.
