

Good weather, good runs at the Tarrant Komen

Finally, there wasn't much wind in the morning and the cool temperature (high 40s) helped make for a near-perfect running day at the Tarrant Komen Race For The Cure in downtown Fort Worth on April 11. Winning the men's division was Koby Styles, 25, of Holliday in 15:18.07. Coming behind Styles were Clint Bell, 29, of Wilmer in 16:08.92, and Shawn Hailey, 25, of Abilene in 16:53.52. Melisa Christian, 32, of Dallas won the women's race in 17:33.37, with Elizabeth Eder, 21, of Fort Worth taking second in 18:05.24. It was pointed out that Dawn Charlier was listed as Dann Charlier and winner of the men's 30-34 division. However, Dawn should have been third in the women's race with an 18:33.50, with Cora Turner, 39, of Alvarado finishing fourth in 19:05.80 See results.
